Meeting Highlights

A Message from the President & Program Chair, Karen Pyke

Please consider the following workshops, events, panels, and sessions, most of which are tied to the theme of Institutional Betrayal: Inequality, Discrimination, Bullying, and Retaliation. Bring your ideas and action items to the Open Discussion on How We Can Disrupt the Culture of Silence in Academia on Sunday 10-12.

Thursday 12-1:30 Inequity, Discrimination, and Retaliation in Academia: Surveillance and Repression of People of Color in Academics Panelists share observations and experiences of surveillance and repression that stem from and reproduce racial constructions that leave them vulnerable to repression from above, beside and below. Given token representation of people of color who are faculty and/or in the pipeline to become faculty, such experiences only compound their isolation and marginalization except when allies rally to their support.

Thursday 1:45-3:15 Race, Class, and Gender Disparities in Higher Education Panelists describe factors contributing to on-going race, class, and gender disparities for faculty and students in higher education.

Thursday 1:45-3:15 Inequity, Discrimination, and Retaliation in Academia: Bullying in Academia: Through the Lens of Retired and Former External Program Reviewers, Sponsored by Emeritus and Retired Sociologists Committee Panelists discuss common experiences of bullying in academia, its impact on faculty, and structural factors contributing to it.

Thursday 3:30-5:00 Presumed Incompetent: Five Years On Five years after the publication of Presumed Incompetent: The Intersections Of Race And Class For Women In Academia, an anthology of personal reflections and qualitative research on the experiences of women of color in academia, two of the editors and one of the contributors to the book explore the reception of the book, its aftermath, and the critical issues that remain.

Thursday 5:15-6:45 Sociological Stars Distinguished Lecture: Solutions without Problems Earl Babbie, 2004 PSA President and Chapman College Campbell Professor Emeritus What do the 2003 American invasion of Iraq, banning gay marriage, outlawing marijuana, the Salem Witch Trials, and Voter ID laws all have in common? Each is a "solution" designed to solve a non-existent problem, with disastrous consequences. This talk will examine a variety of examples from politics and social policy, religion, medicine and other aspects of social life. We will discover a major source of misery in modern life—one that is sometimes intentional but can be avoided.

Friday 8:30-10:00 How to Work Effectively with Administrators and Be an Effective Administrator Workshop focuses on limitations in the corporatist model of universities that chairs and deans face, and tactics for addressing them. How to effectively propose initiatives, promote best practices, and address inequities and legally suspect institutional policies and procedures. Bring questions for discussion. Joseph W. Childers is Provost at St. George’s University in Grenada, West Indies and former dean of the Graduate Division at the Univ. of Calif. Riverside.

Friday 10:15-11:45 Administrative Betrayal: Faculty and Administrative Negotiation of Hostile Environments in Sociology Discussion of sociologists who exit from sociology to other departments due to hostility, discrimination, etc. and how administrators who use this exit strategy instead of addressing the underlying problems are engaged in "administrative betrayal." Judith Howard, Marta Maldonado, and Katja Guenther will also discuss if/how such exit strategies can support institutional or disciplinary change.

Friday 10:15-11:45 Higher Education: Navigating the Academic Pipeline: Experiences of Graduate Students and Faculty Panelists discuss student and faculty experiences with systemic inequalities in higher education, including bullying and retaliation.

Friday 12-1:30 Institutional Betrayal: Sexual Assault on Campus Panel with Michele Dauber, law professor and leader in movement to remove Judge Persky for sentencing Stanford student Brock Turner to only 6 months for sexual assault; Wendy Murphy, law professor, sexual assault activist, impact litigator, and national tv legal analyst; Jacqueline Swanson, Portland attorney for sexual assault survivors and author of legislation to aid the prosecution of sexual offenders; and Caroline Heldman, political scientist, co-founder of End Rape on Campus, and petitioner in a complaint against Occidental College’s handling of sexual assault.

Friday 1:45 PM-3:15 PM Gentrification in Portland: A Story of the Betrayal of African American Residents Workshop in two parts with Dwaine Plaza, Richard Mitchell, and Chelsea Bunch-Brooks 1) Lecture and overview of the major historical issues that make Portland Oregon a space that betrayed African American folks 2) An action learning guided driving tour of the neighborhoods in the city of Portland that were most affected by gentrification (tour limited to 20 participants).

Friday at 3:30-5:00 Self Preservation for Everyday Oppression Workshop with Fabian Romero designed to expand basic understandings of anti-oppression and privilege, build community, and discuss self-care practices and everyday techniques to avoid burnout.

Friday 5:15 PM-6:45 Presidential Address and Awards Ceremony Address: Institutional Betrayal: Inequity, Discrimination, Bullying and Retaliation in Academia Followed by Presidential Reception 7-8:30 PM, then Band: Island of Black and White 8-11 PM. From the Sierra foothills of El Dorado, California this busy band plays to record breaking crowds at wineries, clubs, festivals, and now for the PSA meetings! Their music is a blend of acoustic rock, funky reggae, and soulful blues. Well known for their high-energy performances, great talent, and unique sound, Island of Black and White captures the attention of young and old alike with fans coming back for more. The band’s core duo is Chris Haislet on guitar, keyboard, accordion, melodica, flute and vocals, Nawal Alwareeth on drums and vocals.

Saturday 8:30-10:00 Disrupting the Culture of Silence: Naming and Taming Institutional Betrayal Authors and editors of the book, Disrupting the Culture of Silence: Confronting Gender Inequality and Making Change in Higher Education, edited by De Welde and Stepnick explore faculty incapacity, the “diversity double duty,” the gender gap in faculty salaries, and some of the effects of broad changes in higher education that result in institutional betrayal.
Saturday 10:15-11:45 Gender Shrapnel and Institutional Betrayal, With Ellen Mayock and Jennifer Freyd  Mayock uses the image of “shrapnel,” bits of scattered metal that can hit purposeful targets or unwitting bystanders, to narrate the story of power and gender in the academic workplace. Freyd coined the term “institutional betrayal” to describe wrongdoings perpetrated by an institution upon individuals dependent on that institution, including failure to prevent or respond supportively to wrongdoings by individuals (e.g. sexual assault, discrimination, retaliation) committed within the context of the institution.

Saturday 12-1:30 Winning Legal Challenges to Institutional Betrayal  Stories from those who have brought legal challenges to “institutional betrayal” at their universities, including UC-Davis Professor Amy Block Joy, author of Whistleblower and Retaliation and Dr. Janet Conney, M.D., who was awarded $4.07 million against UCLA for sexual harassment, pay inequity, and retaliation for complaining of discrimination. Former Yale security educator Susan Laria Landino will discuss facing retaliation after reporting Title IX violations. Law professor, impact litigator, and tv legal analyst Wendy Murphy will serve as discussant.

Saturday 1:45-3:15 Trumpocracy: Critical Reflection on a Dystopia that Became a Reality  Panel with Sociologists Marcus Hunter, Matthew Hughey and Barry Glassner

Saturday 3:30-5:00 Rebooting Harassment Prevention: Getting Institutions to Care: Plenary with EEOC Commissioner Chai Feldblum  Commissioner Chai Feldblum is an Obama appointee to the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, a former professor at Georgetown University Law Center, an author and activist for disability rights and LGBT rights, and a leading expert on the Employment Nondiscrimination Act. She played a leading role in drafting the ground-breaking Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 and is an expert on the Employment Nondiscrimination Act. At the EEOC, Commissioner Feldblum is tasked with enforcing federal laws against workplace discrimination.

Saturday 5:15-6:45 Exhausting Administrative Remedies (and Administrators) Before Going to Court: What You MUST Do Before Seeking Legal Remedies for Institutional Harassment, Discrimination and Retaliation, Workshop with Attorney Michael J. DeNiro  An attorney in private practice, DeNiro represents aggrieved faculty and students at private and public colleges in California. Prior to becoming a lawyer, he was an aggrieved geology professor at UCLA and UCSB for 30 years, becoming emeritus in 2009. DeNiro will discuss administrative remedies aggrieved faculty must pursue so that, if those efforts fail to rectify problems and going to court is the only option, the lawsuit will survive the administration’s inevitable motion to dismiss for failure to exhaust administrative remedies. He will also discuss lesser known but possibly more satisfying actions faculty can take against administrator-tormentors.

Sunday 8:30-10 a.m. Fight the Tower: Asian American Women Against Injustice in the Academy  Papers in this panel consider labor issues, systemic oppression, and structural injustice in higher education with a focus on Asian American women academics.

Sunday 10-12 Challenging Institutional Betrayal: Open Discussion on How We Can Disrupt the Culture of Silence in Academia  Bring action ideas and suggestions, including those that emerge from sessions, committee meetings, and workshops to this open session on how we as sociologists and members of the PSA can move forward to address institutional betrayal in academia. Facilitated by Jodi O’Brien.

<td>In Olustee, Florida, people are still fighting the Civil War... The scars of suffering, discrimination, white supremacy, and ideology are seen throughout the South. Southern Discomfort tells the story of Americans still grappling with the legacy of slavery, the Civil War, and national pride. Told through interviews with dozens of Civil War battle re-enactors, politicians, historians, Civil Rights activists, and southern secessionists. Footage shot at the southern-most battle of the Civil War--and the site of a battle victory for the Confederacy--a location still rife with passions and controversy.</td>

Prior to becoming a lawyer, he was an aggrieved geology professor at UCLA and UCSB for 30 years, becoming emeritus in 2009. DeNiro will discuss administrative remedies aggrieved faculty must pursue so that, if those efforts fail to rectify problems and going to court is the only option, the lawsuit will survive the administration’s inevitable motion to dismiss for failure to exhaust administrative remedies. He will also discuss lesser known but possibly more satisfying actions faculty can take against administrator-tormentors.</td>

Thank you for joining us at PSA 2017!

Please consider donating to support PSA.
You can donate to PSA’s Endowment Fund at any time through the PSA e-store.

You can also donate at the conference to support funding of Student Travel Grants—through donating items to the Silent Auction, bidding on items at the Silent Auction, or directly donating by cash, check, or credit card at the PSA registration area. Each year, PSA provides 50 Travel Grants of $125 each to students who are presenting at the conference, are current in their PSA membership and registration, and are randomly selected from amongst applicants. The total cost to PSA is $6,250—no small change! This program is in line with the PSA mission:

The mission of the Pacific Sociological Association is
- to advance scholarly research on all social processes and areas of social life
- to promote high quality teaching of sociological knowledge
- and to mentor the next generation of sociologists.

*Note: Two annual meetings were held in 1934, one in January and the other in December. Meetings were not held during WWII; however, the Presidential Addresses were written and published in the Annual Proceedings. The PSA membership voted in 1944 to move the Annual Meeting from December to spring; consequently, there was no meeting held in 1945. The officers from 1945 were carried over to 1946. There was no Presidential Address given in this year. In 1953, in lieu of its regular meeting, the PSA co-sponsored the annual meeting of the American Sociological Society in Berkeley, which was the first time the ASA met in the Pacific region.

ABOUT THE THEME: In addition to advancing “scholarly research on all social processes and areas of social life,” the mission of the Pacific Sociological Association is “to promote high quality teaching of sociological knowledge and to mentor the next generation of sociologists.” Teaching and mentoring are critical components of what many of us do, and both are essential in ensuring the longevity and strength of our discipline. Members of the Pacific Sociological Association understand the crucial role of teaching; therefore, it is not surprising that, when asked to identify their top interest areas within sociology (on the annual PSA survey), “teaching and learning” is regularly listed in the top 5 for faculty members.

While the presentation of scholarly research in our standard topic areas will continue to be a primary component of the 2018 program (of course!), the theme for 2018 is intended to provide an opportunity to delve more broadly and deeply into our roles as teachers, mentors, and even learners. The teaching of sociology will be highlighted throughout the conference, and thematic sessions will address a broad range of issues. These include, but are not limited to, innovations in teaching, numerous micro- and macro-level changes that affect teaching/learning, and the challenges faced as a result of those changes. Multiple perspectives on these issues are critical, so all members, regardless of status (faculty member, student, applied sociologists, …), are strongly encouraged to participate in making the 2018 conference a great success.
